Suzie Herman
Candidate for Academic Affairs Officer

It is with pleasure that I run for Academic Affairs Officer to serve on the Graduate Student Government. In this role I hope to support the academic community at large. Through my experience as an art historian, marketing manager, and as curator of exhibitions and public programs I would like to contribute to create the best academic environment any graduate student could wish for; one in which students are able to realize their full (academic) potential. One of my many goals is to coordinate with several resources on campus, such as the McGraw Center, the Office of Professional Development, the Davis International Center, the Writing Center, and the program Princeton Writes, to work towards an English Academic Writing Program for all students, with specific attention for international students. Internationalization is an important pillar of Princeton University. To accomplish this, all students regardless of their (academic) background, need an environment in which they are able to reach their goals. I am convinced that all students could benefit from this interdisciplinary and cross-departmental initiative. I look forward to representing all students to the best of my abilities and advocate for their interests with enthusiasm if I were to be elected as the Academic Affairs Officer. We study, investigate and advocate best together!
