

Chet Markwalter

Candidate for CPUC Priorities Committee

Q: What is your position on graduate student unionization?

A:

Graduate Student Unionization has been a central issue for much of my time at Princeton. I have had positive conversations with unionization supporters at different events, listened to those who opposed the efforts, and attended GSG/department sessions on the topic. During that time of discernment, I have not heard a compelling argument for specific benefits we would receive that would justify paying union dues. As a result, I have not signed on to support the unionization effort. However, in my committee role, I would support the results of any votes that are held on this topic regardless of outcome.
